CITY INQUIRY OFF FOR THE ELECTION

Auditors Repeats Charge and Challenges Enright to Public Debate.

MORE EXPOSES COMING
Brown Says Inquiry Is Not Partisan and Has Helped Charter Revision.

Every effort made by the Meyer Committee to expose corruption, waste or inefficiency in the city government has been met with stubborn opposition by the Hyman administration on the ground that it was a "hostile act." Elton R. Brown, counsel for the committee, charged yesterday in a statement defining what the investigators have sought and still hope to accomplish.

Instead of seeking to cooperate in an endeavor to find out what is the matter with the city government and how sound administration can be established through better laws Mr. Brown said the city officials had done nothing but cry partisanship.

James Auditors of the firm of James Auditors & Sons, general contractors of 22 Beaver street, made public last night a letter which he says he has sent to Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, taking issue with the Commissioner because of Mr. Enright's characterization of him as a "ruffian" and challenging the Commissioner to a debate on the merits of Auditor's testimony before the Meyer Committee. Auditor testified that his pier was guarded by the Edward P. Hughes detective agency, and that Hughes had told him that he and Commissioner Enright were "fifty-fifty" in the agency. Auditor's letter follows:

"This morning's papers print a written statement by you in which you characterize me as a 'ruffian' and in which you charge that I had been 'coached' before giving my testimony before the Meyer Investigating Committee."

"Both of these statements are false and malicious and known by you to be such. 'I hereby demand that you make public disclaimer of such statements, and if you refuse to do so I challenge you herewith to a public debate as to the merits of my testimony before the Meyer Committee, at which time I will offer proof substantiating the truth of my statements, such debate to be held when and where you please and all expense connected therewith to be borne by me. 'You may recall that in the presence of others I told you of the power wielded by Edward P. Hughes in the Police Department with your approval and support. Try to recall such a conference. 'I do repeat that Edward P. Hughes repeatedly told me that you were 'fifty-fifty' with him in his agency. 'I am sending copies of this letter to the various newspapers. 'While the committee has suspended public hearings until after election, so as not to interfere with the municipal campaign, its work will continue without interruption. Public sessions will be resumed soon after election. A great mass of material relating to city departments is yet to be presented. 'Ten city departments have been under scrutiny at the hearings. As many more are yet to be investigated. In half a dozen at least various irregularities have been shown. The departments concerning which testimony has been taken include Finance, Police, Education, Markets, License, Street Cleaning, Docks, the Mayor's office, Welfare and Queens Borough.

Perhaps the most important revelations made as affecting the welfare of the entire city relate to pier. It has been established that valuable piers are leased by the city to contractors at small rentals and sublet at big figures. The lessees are making fortunes by juggling the pier while legitimate shipping interests are forced to pay the penalties or turn their ships to other ports.

Material for Charter Revision.
Much evidence is yet to be offered dealing with the overlapping of city bureaus and offices, the duplication to be eliminated by consolidating bureaus doing similar work, and the great expense which results from overinspecting and overhauling through numerous sub-committees. The information on these subjects will be the basis for charter revision.

Many members of the committee and politicians generally speculating on the outcome of the inquiry so far expressed their satisfaction with the results. Their opinion was that the committee's work was of negative political value and would have little effect on the

NEW ELECTRIC FERRYBOAT TO SMASH ICE IN HARBOR

'Trolley' Control to Double Capacity of the Poughkeepsie and Give Pilot Easy Operation Direct From Above Decks Without Signals.

The first ferry boat equipped with electrical propelling machinery is being built at the yards of the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company, in Brooklyn, on designs of C. V. S. Wyckoff, naval architect for the Poughkeepsie and Highlands Ferry Company, and will be in operation next summer. She will be called the Poughkeepsie and will be different from any other ferry boat on the Hudson. She will not be laid up in the winter, as she is designed to smash across the stream through the thickest ice.

Norris R. Sibley, engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who is responsible for the design of the Poughkeepsie, says her propulsion will be much more economical than steam and the control safer. In each pilot house there will be a small controller, like that of a trolley car, to disengage the electric system of signaling to the engine room to change speed, start, stop, or reverse. The system is so "lively," it is claimed, that the Poughkeepsie will be able to make a full stop in a few seconds and reverse quickly.

The boat will have no smokestacks or funnel, as her electrical propelling machinery will be driven by oil. The main deck will be clear for passengers, as no machinery will protrude above deck. She will have four automobiles drive ways instead of two, and thus her carrying capacity will be twice that of steam driven vessels of the same size.

city campaign. The Hyman administration has come out well, its adherents maintained. Ex-Senator Brown and the majority members of the committee, insisted they had no concern in the political consequences. Mr. Brown said: "The inquiry has been entirely directed toward improving administration and paving the way for effective legislation by charter revision and for the improvement of governmental conditions in the city. 'It goes without saying that such an inquiry would be worthless if divorced from existing conditions, but exposures involving waste, inefficiency or corruption have been stoutly resisted as hostile acts toward some party, person or official, rather than as a basis of prompt correction through sound administration and permanent correction through salutary laws, on the alleged ground of partisanship in the presentation. 'The charge of partisanship in the inquiry, besides being groundless, is irrelevant."

Democrat Cries Partisanship.
In a statement given out yesterday Assemblyman Maurice Bloch, a Democratic member of the committee, referred to the Meyer committee's work as a "political fishing expedition," and said that his investigation of Mayor Hyman's administration was aimed at the election of his opponent. Its motive, he went on, has resulted in "the most extraordinary campaign of misrepresentation, invective, innuendo, perversion of fact and misstatement of record in the history of the city."

In the leading paragraphs of the statement he made the complaint that public moneys have been spent in financing the work of the committee and at the end he said that the Whitman and Albrecht Grand Jurors' report was the same ground at a total cost of $100,000. He estimated the cost of the Meyer committee's investigation at $300,000.

Appeal Taken, but New Rate Is Effective To-morrow.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.
TRENTON, Oct. 18.—Following the refusal of the United States District Court to stay the operation of the order permitting the Public Service Railway Company to make effective an 8 cent rate throughout New Jersey, the Public Utility Commission took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. Judge Taft, after approving a bond for $50,000, granted the appeal, and the 8 cent rate is to go into effect on Thursday morning.

SUBNORMAL CHILDREN TO EAT SHEEP GLANDS
Chicago School Heads to Test New Theory in Dieting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Pupils in subnormal classes at Chicago schools will be fed on a sheep gland diet soon, it was announced to-day by Dr. Frank G. Bruner, director of the special schools department of the Board of Education. The gland diet is the idea of Health Department physicians, and several thousand children will partake of the sheep glands, prepared in the school kitchens. Special report blanks are being prepared to record results of the experiment. "Much has been done with the transplantation of monkey and goat glands for reviving physical functions," said Dr. Bruner, "and we expect to meet with success in putting new brains into the heads of subnormal children through the exclusive use of a sheep gland diet."

WIFE WENT TO RENO BUT REMAINED HEIR

Mrs. Nina B. Gore to Share in Estate of Man She Sought to Divorce.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.
WINCHESTER, Va., Oct. 18.—Although not living with her husband, Walter T. Gore, at the time of his death recently, his young widow, Mrs. Nina Brown Gore, inherits a large part of an estate estimated at from $75,000 to $175,000 under his will admitted to probate yesterday. Valuable residential property here goes to her absolutely. The income from $5,000 is hers as long as she remains Mrs. Gore's widow. The remainder, both real and personal, is to be divided equally between her and Mr. Gore's sister, Mrs. J. A. Burns, of Newark, O.K.

Mr. Gore, one of the most prominent young farmers and stockmen of Frederick county, was found dead in a field on his farm October 1. Indications were that he had been killed by a tractor backing on him. Mrs. Gore is said to have gone to Nevada some months ago to establish a residence there, with a view of starting an action for divorce, but her husband's death occurred before the decree actually was sought. She reached here two days after her husband's funeral.

Mr. Gore was a member of an old and prosperous Frederick county family and was a nephew of Prof. J. Howard Gore, chemist at West Virginia. His friends never understood why his wife should seek a separation.

Since the funeral it has been learned that the socialist floral token on the grave here had a card reading: "From fellow members of the Ku Klux Klan." The design was a large cross of red flowers.

STATE SNYOD OPENS MOUNT VERNON SESSION
Dr. John Kelman Speaks on Far East Impressions.

The thirty-ninth annual session of the Presbyterian Synod of New York State opened last night in the Presbyterian Church at Mount Vernon with 500 delegates from all parts of the State. This is the second largest synod in the Presbyterian Church in the United States. It is expected that under the leadership of the Rev. J. Milton Thompson of the Russell Sage Memorial Church of Far Rockaway, a plan will be decided upon to make the future meetings of the synod school ones for intensive study of principles and methods of progress in church work and the new era movement.

The synod brought together representatives from the missionary presbyteries in Porto Rico, Siam, Chile and Persia. At the evening meeting the delegates were welcomed to Mount Vernon by Mayor Edwin L. Kinnead, prayer was offered by Edgar W. Work and there was an address by the Rev. Dr. John Kelman, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Church, Manhattan, who spoke on "Impressions of China and Japan."

FORBES DENOUNCES VOCATION SCHOOLS

Cancels Contracts for Reasons Ranging 'From Asininity to Craft.'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Placement of disabled service men "under conditions that are criminal and akin to slavery," was charged by Director Forbes of the Veterans Bureau in an address to-day at the first meeting of the bureau's district managers.

Col. Forbes criticized the system by which service men had been placed in training and announced the disapproval of contracts held by thirty-three schools and individuals for training those disabled in the war. He told the district managers that in a number of cases they had been derelict in their duty. "You men had no records of the training history of the men," he asserted. "You should have had this information. But I had to get it for myself at an additional expense."

"The word has also gone around that certain districts have their own little political machines in Washington to run the affairs of that district. I want to warn those men who may have such an idea that I'm going to work all political machines, and before I am through with this exposition this bureau is going to be operated on sound, modern business principles and every phase of it is going to be clean and above board."

The schools and individuals in New York city and vicinity whose contracts have been disapproved by the Veterans Bureau were announced by Col. Forbes as follows: Don Penhock's Vandeville School, New York; Rhodes School, New York; Nathan Katz, Yonkers; Greenberg Tailoring Company, Brooklyn; Industrial Extension Institute, New York; Business Training Institute, New York; and Walter Baker, New York.

The reasons for disapproving the contracts were declared by the Veterans Bureau in its statement to range "from asininity to graft."

GIRL NETS FUGITIVE WITH LONG RECORD

D. J. Rogers, Caught in Newark, Boasts of Escape From Bay State Asylum.

The quick thinking of a nineteen-year-old girl resulted in the capture in Newark yesterday of Delmar J. Rogers, described as an international crook with a long record for jail breaking. Rogers was arrested in the real estate office of James P. Donnelly, at 207 Market street, after it was alleged, he had tendered a worthless check for $500 on a Rochester, N. Y. bank as a payment on a piece of property he never intended to purchase. He asked a loan of $30, the police said.

Rogers was quoted by the police as boasting of being a fugitive from the Massachusetts State Asylum for the insane and that he was committed there following a conviction in Boston for murder in the first degree. He said the charges followed the death of a holiday victim.

They said he told them he was one of six men who escaped from the New Jersey State prison at Trenton in 1913 by burrowing under the prison wall. He was serving a term for larceny, it was stated.

Rogers, it was alleged, was identified through fingerprints found on file at Newark police headquarters. When Rogers handed over the $500 check and asked for $300 Donnelly's daughter, Miss Alice Donnelly, became suspicious. Her father told her to take the check to his bank and deposit it and then draw $30 for Rogers. But the young woman instead asked the bank to telephone the Rochester bank on which the check purported to be drawn. The police were then called in.

CASHIER FORMALLY ACCUSED
DUNEGUE, Iowa, Oct. 18.—Information charging L. N. Kopland, cashier of the Union State Bank at Hanover, Ill., with embezzlement of $120,000 was filed to-day by John Eadie, president of the bank, at Galena, Ill., where Kopland is held in the county jail. Kopland was arrested at Davis Junction yesterday.

What of the Future?
It is an enigma. No one is wise enough to forecast it clearly. Where is the "middle of the road" for your money's journey?
Stocks and bonds may go up. They may go down. The prudent investor will choose something that will not go down and will waive the chances of its going up.
The rates of interest may go up and they may go down. The principal of a Guaranteed First Mortgage will not go up, but it will not go down.
Whichever way the rate of interest goes, the investor at short intervals can readjust the rate and get the market value.
What can be fairer or safer?
